

Product Safety Engineer

This is a full time test engineer position. Candidates for this position are required to have hands-on experience with Product Safety testing. This person should be familiar with product safety coding. This person will write the test plans and test reports.

Job Requirements:

- Minimum Bachelors degree.
- 3+ years related experience in product safety.
- Familiar with product safety evaluation and testing.
- Familiar with product safety coding.
- Exceptional analytical and problem solving skills.
- Excellent time management, organizational skills, and interpersonal communication.
- A team player and have strong interpersonal skills.
- Excellent written and verbal communications skills.
- Must have legal status to work in US.

Job Description:

- Performs product safety testing and determines compliance to agency standards.
- Conduct research to evaluate safety levels for products per national and international standards.
- Evaluate potential health hazards or damage that could occur from product misuse.
- Recommend procedures for detection, prevention, and elimination of physical, chemical, or other product hazards.
- Provides technical assistance for agency submissions; including testing, reports, and photos.
- Provides status reports concerning all product activities on a daily basis.
- Communicates with customers, marketing, and management to ensure customer satisfaction, continued patronage, and referral.
- Provides assistance to test production with the repair, testing, and calibration of test equipment.
- Generates test reports.